

Invitation for Aarhus Immunology Day 2026

When: Thursday, 28 May 2026, 9:00-17:00

Where: Nucleus auditorium in building 1871 (Institut for Molekylærbiologi og Genetik; Universitetsbyen 81)

Following some internal discussions, we think that the Aarhus community of immunology researchers could benefit from each other and our collective competences even more than we already do. We would therefore like to try a concept that we call "Aarhus Immunology Day": a day where we meet and present our work to each other, with a focus on presentations (10-15 minutes) from graduate students and postdocs, but PIs should also feel free to present. As we will focus on ongoing work in Aarhus, we will not invite outside speakers. The content of presentations should be treated confidentially so that we can present unpublished work and projects at early stages.

There will be sandwiches for lunch and coffee & cake for breaks, thus allowing for ample opportunity for interacting and networking with fellow Aarhus immunologists.

Registration:

Please register and submit your abstract \(300 words maximum\) here.

Application deadline: Friday 24 April 2026

We look forward to seeing you!

Rune Hartmann and Søren Paludan